Access granted to your representative in the new portal

When acquiring a new ODOTRACK device, a temporary access to your account, valid for 10 days, is given to your representative to finalize the settings and provide training. This option called "Support mode" is available in the "Profile" tab of your account. The access is automatically disabled when the 10-day period ends. Note that during this period, you can disable it at any time. Thereafter, if you wish to give access to your representative, simply enable the "Support mode" option. The access will last for a period of 48 hours.
